Ms. Maggio introduced the Selectboard and Ms. Birch. Information had been sent to the Selectboard about Inner Fire. Ms. Birch described the organization as a one-year healing program offering an alternative to prescription psychotropic drugs; she discussed her many years of work, and the kind of clients served, noting that a psychiatrist assists clients to reduce and eventually stop the use of prescription drugs. She cited six resident clients, the maximum number of residents anticipated being twelve. She described the activities and therapies of the program and her work as an art therapist. She reported that the Director of the Department of Mental Health had asked to visit, and was impressed, and referred her to a new hospital in the region; and there had been many other visits including legislators; she quoted some testimonials from family members of clients. She cited about twenty local employees, and several projects have been completed pro bono by local professionals. She invited questions.

Draft Minutes

Ms. Maggio asked about referrals, insurance. Ms. Birch noted a strict admissions policy, clients must want to participate; there have been television interviews in New York City resulting in contacts from around the world.

Ms. Maggio asked about the conditions being treated. Ms. Birch noted that it is not an addiction detoxification program, that the clients are diagnosed with other mental health conditions for which they have been prescribed medications. To the question about testing, she made clear that clients are tested regularly, and no drugs, alcohol, tobacco or sugar are permitted. There was discussion of various examples of the kinds of problems for which clients would be admitted.

Ms. Tanza asked about safety precautions, citing a case in which a person had left the facility and wandered around the town; clients are frequently visible from the road and from Ms. Tanza's home. Ms. Birch emphasized that clients are always with a staff member; hiking is an important part of the program, and takes place on the property and on Windmill Hill.

Mr. Mello asked about nutrition. Ms. Birch described the admissions process in which clients stay at West River Lodge or another inn, and spend the weekend; then are told to "go home and sleep on it," as they must want to participate. The diet is locally grown vegetables and meat. Mr. Mello asked if the clients would be allowed to move around the town freely; Ms. Birch responded that for three months there is no contact with family or outside the property, no phone calls are allowed; they are not allowed on Grassy Brook Road, and may only walk with others. They are required to leave if they are not cooperative.

Mr. Jones asked how long Inner Fire has been in operation and if some people had left the program. Ms. Birch observed that September will complete the second year; some have left by mutual agreement, on a case-by-case basis.

Ms. Tanza asked about insurance (all therapists have liability coverage).

Mr. Jones asked about clients' ages (18 to 74, so far).

Ms. Maggio asked what the next steps would be; an Act 250 hearing is expected; there was discussion of communications from the State about scheduling the hearing.

Ms. Birch observed that if Inner Fire is a healing community, it must also work for the larger community. She invited questions any time, and cited an Open House. There was further discussion, in which Ms. Birch noted that the head of the Brattleboro Retreat has expressed enthusiasm for the project and offered to write a letter of recommendation on behalf of Inner Fire.

Mr. Tanza asked questions that had been circulating in the town, noting that people have the idea this is a drug rehab place; he cited a car accident in Townshend involving a former Inner Fire client, in which illegal drugs were found; there had been concerns about how often the State Police had been called to an Inner Fire location. Ms. Birch addressed these questions: it is not drug rehab; the former client had completed the program successfully, but had been an addict in the past, and relapsed; the State Police have been called twice, and expressed their support for the program after being at the site. There was discussion.

Mr. Tanza noted public concerns for the size of the operation; Ms. Birch made clear that that there are four residents and about twenty employees on the books, six full-time, including over night; staff will be adjusted appropriately to the number of residents.

Mr. Jones asked how many full-time staff would be on site at capacity (twelve beds), and suggested that this should be known well in advance. Mr. Birch explained the complexity of such a calculation, that it is not simply adding up beds; there are several kinds of therapies and professionals for several kinds of need. Mr. Jones asked about the rate of expansion being planned; there was discussion.

Mr. Tanza asked about how unexpected departures are addressed. Ms. Birch noted that it is not a prison, they do organize departure if a client really wants to leave. Mr. Mello asked about a person found walking

The Selectboard thanked Mr. and Mrs. Birch.

Mr. Bills mentioned the driveway permit, and asked for a site visit with the Selectboard, as it is a commercial application. He discussed access by emergency vehicles. A meeting would have to be warned.

Win Clark - RESCUE Inc

Mr. Clark discussed the history of the ambulance service. Site work started last June, completed February; annual car raffle netted about $26,000; open house on Saturday there will be another raffle; a Capital campaign has been started, with the goal of one million dollars, currently around $250,000; buying higher-quality “boxes” and re-chassis-ing them over time; Rescue Inc. has bought out the assets of Kerr Ambulance, two vehicles and much equipment; last fall town contract rates were level-funded, increase is expected next year.

Ms. Maggio asked what potential volunteers should do if interested in working with Rescue, Inc.; he suggested attending a monthly meeting. The Selectboard thanked Mr. Clark.

Guy Tanza - Town Clerk Update
